Brewster firehouse built in 1941.

What would be the best course of action for the future of this firehouse? Should we continue to repair? The architect will give the condition of the building through a condition survey which is a physical of the building. He will tour the facility and sit with the people who best know the building. Together they will determine what works what doesn't what kind of facility would attract a younger generation. He would identify the amount of money needed to fix and get back to the original design and also another quote to update to the 21st century goals and a third quote to rebuild the Main House. Currently we have roof leaks cracks in the flooring closing weeks. The study phase is a 2-3 month process which could not start until a December.
